It need only be added, to account for the meat, bread, and wine, and painfully subsist upon anxiety felt on the subject by the English merchants at Hongkong, that a blockade of this extent, strictly enforced, would at once the London and China Empress of the 4th put a stop to the silk trade and to the ex- ultime :-port of all teas from the central provinces of the Empire." It does not appear that Lord GRANVILLE had, at the time of the mail leaving England, returned any answer to the address, but it can hardly be doubted that the British Government would find it difficult to repudiate the responsibility resting upon them. It is not likely, however, we think that the French Government would at . whose studies are superintended by the Chinese tempt to seize Chusan under the circumstances. For their purposes the island of Hainan would prove far more useful, as it is in | Chaussies de Paris, and was only twenty-five close proximity to the sent of the war in Tonquin, and it might be made to produce a farlarger revenue. That the French do not wish to interfere with foreign commerce in Obipamay be gleaned from the following expression of opinion by a Paris journal: -" The Temps of the 28th December points out that the occupation of the islands of Hainan, Formesa and Chusan by a European Power would furnish that Power with a guarantee against hostilities on the part of China, without Act against impure or worthless tes, under committing it to any act of war on the Chiness coast, and thus prevent international commerce being interfered with. The Customs duties in the treaty ports of those islands could be easily collected, and would form a guarantee for an eventual war indem> nity." The Customs duties in Chusan would be inconsiderable, while its occupation would inevitably lead to a difficulty with England. which the French Government is properly anxious to avoid. We may therefore take it for granted that, whatever the issue of the will be left in peace. Equally certain does it likewise appear that no attempt to seize either of the ports of Canton or Shanghai is contemplated by France. But the Chinese they can enter into some settlement with troops in Tonquin at once they will be expected to pay the expenses of the campaign. The accounts, however, given by the fishermen are, it is said, rather eraggerated, and this is borne out by the fact of the so-called "'Cerrors of the Western Nations" (vessels very similar to the Alphabetical gunboats) being anchored on either side of the river just below the Kimpai Pass. It is, nevertheless, a fact that several fishin; boats have recently been boarded

The superstition of the Chinese is conssionally turned to good account. Those of the community from foreign residents. The explanation is that the pecuniary emolument derived from the latter is regarded by these swarthy ladies as quite a secondary consideration, as the real object is to secure immunity from danger when conveying such foreigners to Pagoda Anchorage. A portion of the amounts collected is therefore deanger for the offence of being connected in any way whatever with foreigners.

Considering the enormous amount of paper

currency annually issued in Forchow, and knowing the crafty disposition of the natives, it has until quite resently appeared an anomaly that there are, comparatively apeaking, so few counterfeit notes in circulation. We have, however, at last solved the mystery. It appears that there is only one artificer in the Fonkien Province sufficiently expert in the art of forgery as to be able to produce fac-similes of the notes issued by the various banks; and this Chinamans' work is so exact in the most minute detail, that native bankers can scarcely detect the difference between their own, and the spurious notes. So much loss and trouble has been thus occasioned to bankers, that the majority of the latter find it policy to annually comshaw this from forging the notes issued by those bankers from whom he receives the gratuity. Although it is said that the Chinese Authorities are fully aware of the facts stated, still they allow this artificer to continue his illegal business, and we may naturally presume that some return is made as an acknowledgment of the privilege coded, .The annual general meeting of the charnholders | as otherwise the monopolist would stand a fair

ing the disastrons accident which recently occurred at Matsou Island. It appears that the Chinese corvette Yang Woo steamed out from Psyods Anchorage on the morning of the 21st ult., and upon the following day, the weather being clear and fine, commenced target practice at a range of between 1,400 and 2,000 yards, firing some twenty shots and shells, most of which were well simed. It seems that the target was erected on the shore of Matson Island in front of a range of hills, the height of which (about 200 feet) was considered sufficient protection for the two villages on the island; the one mearest to the target being slightly out of the line of fire, whilst the village of Ta Pa was unnothing that called for any remarks from him, fortunately in a direct line with both the target and the Chinese corvette. The shooting being generally good, the only way to account for the stray shalls, which had such a disastrous effect, is the fact of there being a rather heavy swell on, occasioned by the tempestnone weather of the previous day, and thus the rolling of the Yang Woo naturally elevated the vessel's guns to a greater extent than was either expected, or made allowance for by the unskilled native officere in command. The latter appear to have otherwise exercised due precaution, as not only was a red flag placed at the fore-top, but a similar signal of danger was waved from the vessel's Mr. E. H. GORB-BOOTH seconded the motion, forecastle to warn—at all events other vesselshowever, were not visible from the village, the residents of which evidently considered that the small hamlet, which is almost totally deserted except during the fishery meason, when natives resort thereto from the mainland and live in a these buts that the shells descended and caused anch devastation. The bodies of those natives found to be dead were immediately conveyed to the homes of their families on the mainland whilst those only injured were left lingering in the bitter cold and rain utterly uncared for: the result being that several of those whose lives might have been saved, perished more from exceived. We regret to further learn that no

year, the poor of this city have been liable to 31st January. The Chinese generally dread the cold weather.

greater distress than usual on account of the searcity of money produced by the depression in the silk trade and the failure of so many banks. But the actual suffering has been much diminish. ed by the long continued period of mild weather. The memory of the oldest inhabitant does Barometer ...... not reach to a time when the weather continued Temperature ....... January just past. The poor Chinese have another reason for Weather dreading the winter, for then comes the new Rain ... year, and with it, rather just before it the creditor comes for his money. It is a time for the settlement of debts, and if one has not wherewith to pay, some unpleasantness is sure to ocour. There is a good deal of playing at hideand-seek between the debter and creditor, and if the debtor can clude his creditor until day! light of New Year's day, he is safe for some time to come. Sometimes when unable to meet liabilities recourse is had to suicide. One such case was reported here on the 27th of the 12th moon. A small shopkeeper who was pressed for a debt of seven dollars committed suicids. It is reported that oreditors were less exacting, and debts were better paid up, this year than usual.

On the morning of the 29th a strange report was current among the people, to the effect that a proclamation had been issued by the Futai changing the New Year's day, making the 29th the last of the old year and the 30th the first of the new. Some said that a telegraphic despatch had been received from the Emperor ordering the change. The creditors were much perplexed, as it limited the time for collecting their debts to the daylight of the following day: They deoided, however, to ask the debter which day he regarded as the last of the year, and to act according to his answer. It seems that the ground of the report was in an official notification of the Futai to the other officials that when they went at daylight on the first, to the Imperial palace, to pay their respects to the Emperor, they were not to wear their Court dress, but to appear in the dress worm on ordinary occasions. The reason for this order does not appear. The new year has been passed safely, and everybody breathes more freely.

THA MUSTERS. Persons who send Musters of Tea through the Post in Tins are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round tine securely in the mail bags. It is believed that the tea will travel more safely in flat tins, which are not so liable as round ones to be bulged in. 4.by 3 by 13 inches is suggested as a good size. The tips should not have sharp corners.

-To provide means of remitting small suns of money to or from this Colony and between the Ports of China, the Postmasters and Agents of this Office are allowed (but not required) to purchase Hongkong Postage Stamps from toreign residents.

Letters containing beamps should be regitered, and the Stamps should be secured from observation.
